A rare opportunity exists in Riverland Terrace, one of Charleston's most beloved neighborhoods. This classic 1950s single-story residence presents an exceptional chance for buyers seeking a home to personalize and make their own, especially as it is priced significantly below its April 2025 appraisal. Inside the house are 4 nicely sized bedrooms and 2 full baths. The floor plan also includes a sunroom, laundry area, family room, kitchen, and separate dining room, ensuring ample space for daily living. A standout feature is the handsome oak flooring in the main living areas and hallways, adding warmth and character. Updates include granite in the kitchen, newer windows and a newer roof. The original cinderblock exterior still exists under the vinyl siding. Live in as is or renovate to create something new over time to make it your forever home!
