Welcome to 629 Beauregard Street, a beautifully updated Charleston home in the highly sought-after Clearview neighborhood, offering the perfect combination of comfortable living, thoughtful improvements, and your own private backyard retreat. Lovingly maintained and updated, the property offers an inviting interior with a functional layout designed for both everyday living and entertaining. Step outside onto the large deck and the backyard becomes a true highlight. The private swimming pool creates an ideal setting for relaxing, entertaining, and enjoying Charleston's long outdoor season. A backyard shed provides additional storage space. Inside, the home's updates complement its established character, creating a comfortable, move-in-ready feel without sacrificing the charm that makes Charleston homes so appealing. Generous living spaces provide flexibility for today's lifestyle, while the connection between the indoor and outdoor areas makes the home especially well-suited for entertaining. A finished room over the two-car garage adds further versatility as an office, recreational space or even a fourth bedroom. With easy access to everything Charleston has to offer, 629 Beauregard Street delivers a rare combination: an updated home in an established neighborhood, with its own private pool and desirable outdoor
