From the moment you enter Daniel Island Park, there is an immediate feeling of being at home. Lush landscaping, mature trees, beautifully manicured grounds, and impeccably maintained streets create an elegant setting surrounded by the natural beauty of the Lowcountry. Situated on a corner lot within this welcoming neighborhood, 116 River Green Place pairs lush landscaping with a beautiful wraparound porch for inviting curb appeal. The covered porch extends along the side of the home, offering additional seating and a charming spot to enjoy your morning coffee, with an open green space nearby across the street. Designed for comfortable living and easy entertaining, the open floor plan connects the kitchen and living room with a generous dining area spacious enough to serve as your main dining space. This allows the separate room at the front of the home to function beautifully as either a formal dining room or a home office, depending on your needs. Multiple French doors lead to a large covered porch, where plantation blinds provide privacy and create an inviting outdoor retreat. The adjoining deck offers additional space for dining and relaxing, while a covered connection to the detached garage provides convenient, sheltered access. The primary bedroom is conveniently located on the first floor. Upstairs, three additional
